In the encounter which took place after the alarm was given three Europeans, two Skh constables, a Chinese district watchman, and s shop coolie were wound d, and one of the robbers was shot dead. The other robbers all escaped across the harbour. Before the attack they had taken the precaution of board. ing a steam-kunch and compelling the engineer to get up sream, so that the launch was required. This launch was found the following afternoon high and dry on the Chinese proposals of peace. beach near Mong-kok-tsui. At billiards I'm like a baby learning to talk, whiteen I thought I was an accomplished speaker." These are some of the thoughts and ideas that surged through my mind as with wrapt attention I watched this bage break. THE CHAMPION'S CARRED. John Roberts, I have reason to know, was particularly pleased at the partormanes of such a fast in his native city, for he was born at Ardwick on August 15, 1847, being the son of Mr. John Roberts, himself a great player. In him dam Roberts, sen, was considered so much the superior of all other players that nobody could be persuaded to accept from him 300 out of 1,000 in a match, for money, and his breaks of 200, all-in, were considered quite phenomenal. Indeed, when John Roberta's father was at his

Dufton, Bowles, and Tabley, who canked next to him, played matches without once reaching these figures in a single effort. In 1860, John Roberts and his son, then a lid of 3, went to London, and the elder leased Savile House. Linester Square, on the site of which now stands the Emnire. Theatre. The premises were fitted only as a billiard saloon, and all the principal matches of the day, including those of the rival universities. were played there. Master John soon showed that he was following his father, for at 18 he won a handicap at St. James's Hall, in which sixteen of the leading players of the day competed. 'The first match for manay in which Roberts took part was against Wm. Cook It was 1,000 up for $200, and Roberts won by 92. In -1870 Roberts, jun., challenged Cook for the championship, and, was doubtless moved to this because Cook bad just defeated his father for that honour. The meeting was arranged for April 14, and Roberts gained an easy viology by 478 points. It was not destined that he should enjoy the distinction long for Jos Bennett beat; him, and Cook avenged, himself. The championship was held in turn by Cook, Roberts and Bennett until 1885; when Roberts defeated Cook by 92, and Bennett by 1,640. Since that date, June, 1985, Roberts has remained the unchallenged and undisputed champion of English players. No one has the courage to tackle him under the championship conditions, although Peall is doubtless quite willing to play him at the all in zone which is after all is said and done, billiard. The American, Ive-, gained a sensation I victory over Roberts in a contest with peculiar conditions, but still at the all-round
